What would I need to send to my bride to cause her to completely abandon all of her distractions and adulteries?

- : would swirling winds?
- : would rising waters?
- : would parched ground?
- : would failed currency?

These I have sent and yet not in completeness. Continually distracted by events and shiny lights, yet missing out on the continuous event of my presence and glorious light.

What will I need to send to cause her to be wholly devoted to me and to forsake all others?

- : Repent
